

Government Reorganization

Home to over 600 public school districts and over 3,700 taxing units of government, there is little doubt that Ohio has too many layers of taxpayer-funded government. According to WalletHub, Ohio taxpayers, on average, annually pay almost 9.5% of their income.

- Just as the private sector has done, the public sector must find ways to streamline, reorganize, eliminate duplicity, and partner with other entities for efficiencies.
- Re-examine the size and scope of government. Delineate services to be rendered by government and look to the private sector to provide the rest.
- Maintain and expand transparency at all levels of operation.